-Dameron moves to strike CSC officer report.
-Majmudar moves to approve the agenda. Dang seconds.
11-0-0 vote the agenda has been approved as amended.

III. Approval of the Minutes from February 28th, 2017.
-Dameron moves to approve the minutes. Majmudar seconds.
11-0-0 vote the minutes have been approved.

IV. Public Comments
-CalPirg, Emma, says one of the campaigns they are working on is to move the UC system to entirely renewable energy.
-Emma says nationwide they are working on this and many campuses have already moved towards this.
-Emma says Berkeley and Davis have already passed this, Riverside is almost there.
-Emma says she is drafting a resolution to pass this by next week hopefully because the UC regents are meeting March 16th.

V. Special Presentations
A. Special Presentation on Interfaith Identity and Groups – Ayesha Haleem, Kendall Sweetapple and Zanaira Ahmad
- Ayesha says there are not enough spaces for religious purposes on campus.
- Ayesha says we went to the conferences and met with religious organizations.
- Ayesha says we presented at the URC board.
- Zanaira says URC is an interfaith organization at UCLA that brings diversity and harmony together.
- Zanaira says we held a meeting in November last quarter and had over 22 organizations come and speak about what they would want with this funding.
- Zanaira says the organizations spoke about their issues.
-Zanaira says there was a large emphasis on communication and organization.
-Kendall says long-term suggestions would be more food on campus, biweekly meetings, communal spiritual space, conference with religious information, and religious fair and informative booths.
-Kendall says many religious students expressed their concern of safety on campus.
-Kendall says they discussed a weekend long conference to have members come and bond about each other’s faiths.
-Ayesha says they took a poll of students on campus who are religious and majorities are not religious and many encourage a communal spiritual space and quarterly dinners to increase communication.
-Ayesha says there are not enough spaces on campus to help with this issue and the URC really wants this to change, but there is a gap between the URC and student community.
-Ayesha says student input helps and there is also an interfaith dinner at the end of week 9 (Friday March 10th).
-Ayesha says we are going to introduce our group, funds, and religious groups on campus.
-Majmudar says we want to create a student advisory board and pass a constitutional amendment so that it is a presidential appointment every year.
-Majmudar says URC is looking forward to student input; it is up to us to create a position.
-Siegel asks to clarify background of the survey and how representative you think this is of the entire campus.
-Ayesha says this was residential and the results are the same even with the added amount of students we surveyed and we are interested in making it more widespread.
-Ayesha says we went personally to people and how they feel.
-Sands says he supports the idea of having this committee, but we should fight for existing positions on the committee already rather than making a new one.
-Majmudar says from UCLA it is Mic DeLuca and they are open to having students on their side and URC is open for students to join also.
-Majmudar says both sides want students on board, I think if we make a position it will carry on for years.
-Dameron asks do you think you will share this with other orgs?
-Ayesha says yes.
-Dameron says this has a lot of good information, but the layout and format of a final report should be different than this, because we have typos in this and inconsistent formatting so he wants you to edit this before sending it out to credible entities.
-Dameron says the content is good, but being critical and representing USAC edit it.
-Chowdhury says in terms of student advisory committee do you think USAC is the right jurisdiction to determine who can be involved in this committee?
-Majmudar says it would mostly be an advisory committee to UCLA, not directly working with URC.
-Majmudar says the undergraduate students do have a lot to gain to be a part of this.
-Majmudar says being able to create these students funds and having someone from USAC would work.
-Shao moves to extend questioning by 8 minutes. Dameron seconds.
10-0-0 vote an 8 minute extension has been added.
Shao asks do you find value in extending the work that has already been done such as meditation space in Ackerman? The space you are looking into is not accessible for most students, make more accessible on campus spaces. Secondly, Shao likes the long-term goals, but does not see a feasible plan to achieve them.

Shao says it would make sense to define diversity and division; some of these things are vague and need to be more in depth.

Ayesha says we are an outreach committee, not a religious committee.

Ayesha says the short-term goals are suggestions; they are not our direct input.

Ayesha says these are ideas that were presented to us that we wanted to share.

Ayesha says sorry for not putting it together a certain way, but she has personally spoken to people from different student groups and many of them do not feel comfortable in Ackerman spaces.

Ayesha says we are trying to gather information about this topic.

Majmudar says this is one of many projects that this committee is working on.

Majmudar says the many other orgs have put proposals in from this group and hundreds of people are involved in this.

Sharma says did you think of doing the survey at town hall?

Majmudar says November we had religious orgs come and we are trying to make that into a town hall.

Sharma says would this be a town hall type or committee based?

Ayesha says a committee that meets biweekly would be ideal to increase communication.

Dang says if you are going to print these in black and white you cannot tell the difference in these pie charts and in one part you said you want to have a committee, but towards the end it says you want to make an entire new office in USAC. Which goal do you mean to look into?

Ayesha says these were ideas mentioned at the ideas and our moving forward was what we thought we would be able to do.

B. Special Presentation on SWC and their Work – Rajman Randhawa and Soz Mirza

-Raj is the marketing director and Soz is the public relations director.

Soz says you can find even in Kerkhoff.

Soz says BCC has worked on awareness and prevention and sexual violence on campus and has their annual domestic violence awareness month and planning their awareness week.

Raj says SWC focuses on different things each year, last year they focused on oral hygiene.

Raj says SWC focused on welfare and this past week we had back to the basics.

Soz says SWC has officially made it the first university to offer free menstrual products and solely student funded!

Soz says you can get these at the Ashe center and dispensers and also at the LGBTQ center.

Soz says SHN is a liaison between USAC and other health groups on campus to make sure they have funding and help, this past year we created a coalition instead and focuses more on advocacy.

Soz says we have a conference coming up next quarter.

Raj says we know many offices are doing great work about student wellness.

Sharma says what other things are you doing with SWC?

Raj says SWC committees would love to be integrated into your projects and make sure that if there are topics around health that SWC would love be a part of that conversation.

Soz says most of the directors have a lot of experience with what they do and want to make sure SWC is integrated into topics of health and wellness.

Rafalian asks when is the next addition of Total Wellness magazine?

Raj says hopefully by week 1 of Spring quarter.

Majmudar asks that if you were to co-program, we just ask the commissioner ourselves, who do we contact to work with you?

Raj says Christina, our website is back up with all of our emails, and each committee has their own Facebook page to message them on.
